Look to the Morning Star

Babylon's a bad dream
Jerusalem, there but not seen.
Who can build and who will lift the stone?
The weight is great, the task taller
The ruin deep, the remnant smaller
But something in you knows you're not alone

Look to the Morning Star ...

Pilgrims in a deep night
See the dark, but know the light
A thousand candles pointing to the day
The road is long but hope longer
The flesh is weak but friends stronger
Burning hearts are showing you the way
Look to the Morning Star ...
